N, JULY 15.

YESTERDAY, between one and two o'clock, came on, upon the Huſtings at Guildhall, the long depending and important cauſe between the Common Serjeant of the city of London, plaintiff, and Samuel Plumbe, Eſq; Prime Warden (or Maſter) of the Company of Goldſmiths, defendant. This ſuit was inſtituted againſt the defendant on occaſion of his refuſal to obey a precept, iſſued in the year 1770, by the then Lord Mayor (Mr. Beckford) to convene the livery of the ſaid company to a Common-hall.

The cauſe was opened in a brief manner by Mr. Allen, on the part of the plaintiff.

Mr. Dunning then entered more minutely into the buſineſs, and ſpoke for near two hours without intermiſſion. He acquainted the Jury, that the charge brought againſt the defendant was a wilful diſobedience of that authority to which in the preſent caſe he was bound, both as a liveryman and a freeman, to pay an implicit ſubmiſſion: that the defendant acknowledged the charge, but pleaded in his juſtification, that the company of Goldſmiths were poſſeſſed of a prerogative, which in ſome inſtances (particularly the preſent) exempted them from all ſubmiſſion to the mandates of the Lord Mayor: that the defendant alſo attempted to juſtify himſelf on the plea, that the Lord Mayor had no authority to call a Common-hall, ſave for the purpoſe of elections of members of Parliament, Lord Mayor, Sheriffs, &c. &c. that, in order to invalidate this defence, extracts from the city records ſhould be read to them, from whence it would clearly appear, that the Lord Mayors of London had, from the earlieſt periods, been inveſted with that power which the defendant pretended on the preſent occaſion to deny the exiſtence of.

The city records were then produced, and many extracts from them were read, tending to prove the authority of the Lord Mayor to convene a Common-hall for other purpoſes than ſimply thoſe of elections.

The Recorder began the buſineſs of ſumming up the evidence at half after ten o'clock at night, and concluded it a few minutes after twelve. The Jury, after a deliberation of about three quarters of an hour, brought in a verdict for the plaintiffs.

The expence of the Kings viſit to Portſmouth is calculated at the moderate ſum of 120,000 l. the expence of powder for only one day in the fleet was 1000 l.

Mr. Khuff's bill, one of the King's confectioners, who provided the three Royal dinners, &c. at Portſmouth, wine excepted, amounts to 30,000 l.

The authenticity of the following intelligence may be depended upon:—A lady of pleaſure about town, well known by the fictitious title of lady M——h, was really admitted to the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws, at the late celebraity at Oxford, under the diſguiſe of mens cloaths; and paſſed undiſcovered by a ſingle perſon in the univerſity.

Letters from Scotland adviſe, that veſſels are engaged to carry 2100 people from their weſtern coaſts to America in the month of Auguſt next.

They write from ſeveral parts of Scotland, that the linen manufacture is totally on the decline; about half the weavers, and one third of the ſpinners, being almoſt entirely idle, in the towns of Perth, Dundee, Dumfries, and in the neighbourhood of the cities of Edinburgh and Glaſgow.

Tueſday died at Twickenham, in Middleſex, the Right Hon. Lord Tyrawley, Field Marſhal of his Majeſty's forces, Colonel of the ſecond regiment of foot guards, Governor of Portſmouth, and one of his Majeſty's moſt honourably Privy Council.

An ordinance lately iſſued at Paris, declares, that all Engliſh velvets and cotton ſtuffs, as well as all other ſtuffs of the manufacture of that country, ſhall be prohibited from admiſſion into France, under penalty of ſeizure of the goods, and a fine of 3000 livres.

Aboudaab, who has defeated Ali Bey, is the eldeſt ſon of that warrior, but having long ſince diſcovered a very refractory ſpirit, had fled from his father, and joined the Turks.

JULY 17.

Yeſterday General Harvey kiſſed his Majeſty's hand on being appointed Governor of Portſmouth, in the room of Lord Tyrawley, deceaſed.

The ſame day Lord Waldegrave kiſſed his Majeſty's hand on being appointed Colonel of the ſecond regiment of foot guards, in the room of the late Lord Tyrawley.

PARIS, July 5. There have been very violent ſtorms in Provence, accompanied with hail of an uncommon ſize, which have deſtroyed great part of the fruits of the earth.

July 9. The whole village of Erpy, in the juriſdiction of Rheims, with the church, parſonage-houſe, &c. is burnt down.

LONDON, JULY 20.

The report of an intended change in the Miniſtry is revived, and ſome circumſtances are mentioned, which make it ſeem not to be wholly deſtitute of foundation.

Junius has been diſcovered, and proves to be a perſon high in office under government, and whoſe ſole ſupport is on Adminiſtration; he has been threatened with immediate diſmiſſion.—This is the true cauſe of that celebrated writer's ſilence.

The cauſe between the city of London and the refractory companies, which was determined on Wedneſday laſt at Guildhall, in favour of the former, is to be removed by appeal to the Houſe of Lords.

On Saturday India ſtock was done at 150, and it is expected it will be done at 160 in a few days, owing to the number of people buying in upwards of 1000l. ſtock, in order to qualify them to vote at the next election.

We hear from Paris, that accounts have been received there from Tours, of incredible damage being done by a dreadful ſtorm of thunder and hail which lately fell in that neighbourhood, it having laid twenty pariſhes nearly under water, carried away many houſes, and deſtroyed all the fruits of the earth to a great extent.

Extract of a Letter from Zittau, in Upper Luſatia, June 26.

"A moſt violent ſtorm of hail, accompanied by an exceſſive high wind, on the 18th inſtant, has not only deſtroyed all the corn in the country round us, but almoſt ruined the neighbouring villages. The element appeared entirely green at the time of this dreadful calamity, and the hail-ſtones were prodigious large: In one village 29 houſes were beaten down, ſeveral trees were ſplit aſunder, and the general damage done to the farmers is incredible. We had a moſt promiſing proſpect of a fine crop at the enſuing harveſt, before this dreadful cataſtrophe, by which our hopes are at once overturned, and we now ſee nothing but diſtreſs before us."

MESSINA, (Italy) June 15. This year's harveſt in Sicily promiſes the greateſt abundance in corn, oil, ſilk, and wine; and the prohibition on the two firſt articles is ſoon expected to be taken off.

DRESDEN, (Saxony) July 7. It is ſtill to be hoped, ſhould the months of July and Auguſt prove fine, that, after a ſcarcity of three years, the poor, by a more plentiful harveſt this ſummer, may be ſupplied with better bread, and at a more reaſonable price.

BERLIN, (Pruſſia) July 10. The weather continues ſtill favourable, and unleſs we ſhould have rain during the time of the harveſt, there is reaſon to expect a very plentiful crop. L. Gaz.

To ſuch a miſerable ſituation [illegible] of Ireland, by their oppreſſions in forming a Board of Exciſe, with the many places conſequent thereon, and the heavy weight of penſions fixed on that poor and diſtreſſed kingdom, that the Viceroy was obliged to apply to an eminent banker in Dublin, for the loan of 28,000 l. to pay arrears due to the military liſt, on government ſecurity. The banker's anſwer was, "My Lord, to ſuch a miſerable predicament have a late Adminiſtration brought the credit of the nation, that I would not take Government ſecurity for half that ſum; but as you ſay there is no money in the treaſury, I will advance the ſum you aſk for on your own ſecurity;" which, from the exigences of ſtate, he was obliged to comply with. Finding the national credit reduced ſo low, his Excellency, a few days after, waited on a Nobleman of the firſt diſtinction in that kingdom in fortune, title, and intereſt, and begged he would uſe his endeavours, in conjunction with him on the meeting of Parliament, to ſupport the credit of the nation. To which that Nobleman, in a truly ſpirited and patriotic manner replied, "My Lord, every thing has been carried here for theſe few years paſt with ſo high a hand in deference of Adminiſtration, regardleſs of the intereſt, credit, or advantage of this kingdom, particularly in forming a new Board of Exciſe, with the ſeveral officers conſequently annexed to it, merely to promote Court influence, that I will not interfere in matters of this kind. A very little time will convince the Council of England, that this kingdom cannot ſubſiſt long under the heavy weight it is now oppreſſed with by places, penſions, &c. and no trade to ſupport it; but my Lord, let Adminiſtration ſhew they are in earneſt to relieve us, by ſtriking off theſe new officers of exciſe, and I ſhall do my utmoſt to promote the credit and honour of the kingdom;"—— In conſequence of this converſation, Colonel Blacquiere was diſpatched to England, with the Lord Lieutenant's ſentiments to the Privy Council.

On Sunday morning an eminent tradeſman in Cheapſide hanged himſelf. The cauſe is ſaid to be his having detected his wife in an amour, and the delinquent's eſcaping the enraged huſband's revenge.

JULY 24.

Yeſterday new guineas, to the amount of 70,000 l. were delivered from the Tower to the Bank.

We are informed that at the meeting of Parliament, application will be made by a great number of the inhabitants of London and Weſtminſter, for an alteration in the gold coin act.

Advices from Hamburgh mention, a ſenſible decay of trade in that great commercial city.

Letters from St. Malo's mention, that on the 20th inſtant, they had a moſt violent ſtorm of thunder, lightning, and rain, which did a great deal of damage to the houſes in the city, and to the parts adjacent, deſtroyed all the fruits; and ſeveral perſons were ſtruck dead by the lightning, as were many of their cattle.

It is thought Lord North has loſt more friends by the late money act, than he will regain during the remainder of his adminiſtration: Even the King's friends are ſo much diſguſted, that their quondam favourite toaſt is now out of faſhion.

It is ſaid that Lord Cadogan will be ſent to India as commander in chief of the forces.

It is ſaid that a Miniſter Extraordinary will ſoon ſet out for Berlin, to execute a commiſſion of the greateſt importance.

It is ſaid to be ſettled, that Mr. Cornwall is to ſucceed Sir Fletcher Norton, as Speaker of the Houſe of Commons, next ſeſſions.

Letters received here from Carthagena, in the Spaniſh Weſt-Indies, relate, that the revolution of the natives of Chili, and the ſouthern provinces of Peru, was entirely completed in the month of December laſt; that the Spaniards were totally driven out of the country, and a deſcendant of the ancient Incas, placed on the throne of thoſe extenſive territories.

Nothing can give ſo ſtrange as well as ſo odious a proof of the King of Pruſſia's avarice, as his ſeizing the revenues of a national and charitable fund eſtabliſhed by the Engliſh Merchants and Factors at Dantzick, for the ſupport of worn-out ſailors, and the relief of their indigent countrymen. The records of the Old-Bailey cannot furniſh out the hiſtory of any robbery equal to this!

The King of Sweden, by one leſſon from his uncle the King of Pruſſia, has been able to accompliſh the moſt extraordinary things. At the age of twenty-five he out-plotted the moſt experienced Politicians, out-talked the moſt rigid Republicans in his diſcourſe upon Liberty, and out-canted the moſt zealous Enthuſiaſts in his appeal to Heaven! He has nothing to do now but to out-reach that wily old Fox his uncle!

It is thought that the King of Sweden, who has ſo artfully deprived his ſubjects of what is moſt dear to mankind, their liberty, will not be an idle looker-on in the affairs of Europe.

It was the conſtant injunction of Nero to his Tax-Gatherers, that no man ſhould poſſeſs any thing. This Roman Monſter ſeems in this to be faithfully copied by that great legiſlator, warrior, philoſopher, poet, hiſtorian, and muſician, the King of Pruſſia.

The expulſion of the Turks out of Europe, the diſſolution of the electoral college, with the reſtitution of the Empire of Alſace, are ſaid to be ſome of the preſent points in view.

A Scotch gentleman waited on Mr. Foote ſome days ſince to expoſtulate with him about his friend Mr. Fordyce, whom he ſuppoſed to be meant in the character of the Bankrupt. Upon my word, ſaid the facetious original, you are very much miſtaken—I know nothing of your friend; my bankrupt is a man of honour.

Yeſterday Sir Baſil Keith, lately appointed Governor of Jamaica, was, by a ſpecial licence, married to Miſs Warren, of Harley-ſtreet.

A Lady of Pleaſure at the weſt end of the town has realized 1500 l. per annum, from the profits of her occaſional ſervice at the altar of Venus.

Extract of a letter from Dublin, July 17.

"Monday laſt the guild of merchants unanimouſly reſolved that an addreſs be preſented to the Marquis of Kildare and Dr. Clement, their repreſentatives in Parliament, requiring their utmoſt oppoſition to any attempts which may be made towards obtaining a Stamp-Act in this kingdom; to requeſt they will uſe their beſt endeavours to ſuppreſs the preſent Board of Exciſe, and to prevent the ſalaries of the Surveyor-General and the Taſter of Wines, from becoming a part of the Civil Liſt."

JULY 26.

Laſt week one Smyth was apprehended at Wick, near Bath, ſuppoſed to be the perſon who murdered Mrs. Connibeere and her two daughters, ſome time ſince at Woodford, in the pariſh of Monkſilver, in the county of Somerſet.

Extract of a Letter from Conſtantinople, June 17.

"We have juſt received advice here of the Ruſſians having poſſeſſed themſelves of all the places in the Morea, except the province of Belvidere, which ſtill remains entirely with the Turks. The other provinces of Romania, Minou, and Zacchonia or Buacchio de Mana, with the Duchy of Clarenza, are all ſubjected to the Muſcovites, and the Greeks in general own the ſovereignty of the Empreſs of Ruſſia. The Turks are ſtrongly fortifying Mondon, Corone, and all the other places of importance in Belvedere, but more eſpecially Navarina, where they have a formidable fleet of ſhips of war and gallies lying in the harbour."

revenue, in times of peace, uſed generally to exceed the proviſions for the national eſtabliſhment from 60 to 120,000 l. in every two years. In the laſt year, ending the 24th of December 1772, inſtead of a ſurplus, the deficiency in one year only has amounted to 93,000 l. though the Taxes, when compared with thoſe laid on in 1762, ſhould have left a balance in favour of Government of 127,000 l. per annum, or 254,000 l. for the two years.

The King of Pruſſia, it is ſaid, has doubled the duties laid upon tobacco throughout his dominions. This additional tax will encreaſe his revenues no leſs than 50,000 l. per Annum, on that bare article.

After the King of Pruſſia had exhauſted every common ſpecies of exaction in Poland, his fertile genius produced a new and unheard of method of pillaging. He ordered every village and diſtrict ſubject to his power, to furniſh a number of young virgins, to be ſent as proper wives for his troopers. By this means a great number of innocent girls were torn from the arms of their deareſt relations, and forced to inter-marry with thoſe whom they never ſaw, and with whom they cannot, for ſome time at leaſt, exchange language.

Sir Walter Raleigh ſomewhere obſerves, that if the acts of tyranny and oppreſſion were loſt to the world, and only the hiſtory of Harry the Eighth preſerved, a perfect picture of tyranny would be exhibited in the character of that Prince. If Sir Walter lived now, he would be convinced that his Majeſty of Pruſſia far exceeds all other Princes in the arts of cruelty, chicanery, oppreſſion, fraud, injuſtice, and every ſpecies of kingly wickedneſs, as our Harry the Eighth ſurpaſſed all his cotemporaries in the vulgar arts of deſpotiſm.

When the Empreſs Queen has completed her robbery in Poland, ſhe purpoſes to retire from the world, and apply herſelf to nothing but acts of devotion. Her Majeſty ſhould recollect, that when her great anceſtor Charles the Fifth, Emperor of Germany, was ſeized with the like hot fit of royal reſignation, he had ſoon very ſufficient cauſe to repent it; for immediately after he was abandoned by all his courtiers, and abſolutely wanted a fire to warm him at Bruſſels. His income was ill paid by his ſon, the gloomy Philip, and he met with mortifications even in a cloyſter.

When great Princes, after committing flagrant acts of injuſtice and oppreſſion, retire from the world to ſpend the remainder of their days in acts of devotion, they put us in mind of the old Procureſs, who was determined to continue her occupation no longer than ſhe could obtain a decent competency; for then, truly, ſhe would retreat from this wicked world and ſerve the Lord.

Several gentlemen of the moſt conſiderable property in the Weſt-India iſlands, are expected in England on the moſt important affairs, before the ſitting of Parliament.

A few days ago died at Padiham, near Colne, in Lancaſhire, of a cancer in her throat, one Sarah Sharrock, about 50 years of age, whoſe tongue dropped out of her mouth into her own hand, about twelve days before ſhe died.

JULY 28.

The great emigrations that have been made to America by the artificers and ſmall holders of farms in Ireland and Scotland for a great while paſt, particularly within theſe few years, occaſioned a meeting of the landed gentlemen of thoſe two nations laſt week at a noted Coffee-houſe in Weſtminſter; when taking into their conſideration the diſagreeable conſequences that muſt proceed from ſuch peregrinations, viz. the depopulation of theſe countries, and of courſe the fall of lands, came to a reſolution of letting their eſtates in future in ſmall farms, and at ſuch eaſy rents as will enable the holders to pay their landlords, and not only enjoy the neceſſaries, but the conveniences of life.

The talk of an union with Ireland is again renewed amongſt our Miniſters, as they have been lately informed a great part of the Iriſh, and thoſe the better ſort, are by no means averſe to it; they think it will tend to the removal of the hardſhips that kingdom now labours under.

We hear that Meſſrs. Fox and Foley won 36,000 l. on the ſweepſtakes on Tueſday laſt at Burford.—During the heat, Pumbkin being behind, Lord Clive laid 1000l. to 10l. that he did not win.

A correſpondent from South-Audley ſtreet informs us, that Lady Auguſta Stuart, fourth daughter of Lord Bute, was privately married a few days ſince to Captain Corbet, of the Horſe Guards.—As ſoon as the ceremony was over the new-married couple ſet out for Paris.

FRANKFORT, (Germany) July 17. According to the laſt letters from Peterſburg, the Great Duke of Ruſſia made choice, the 29th of laſt month, of the Princeſs Wilhelmina of Heſſe-Darmſtadt for his conſort. The Great Duke was born the 1ſt of October, 1754, and the Princeſs was born the 25th of June, 1755.

LONDON, JULY 30.

It is now certain, ſays a correſpondent, that a great perſonage, of whole diſpoſition we are enclined to entertain the moſt flattering opinion, is the actual impediment to the deſired union between the Royal Brothers, from motives of pride only; ſuch wonderful effects is exaltation capable of producing on the moſt cultivated mind!

Yeſterday an Order was given for ſix meſſengers to be in waiting while the Council was ſitting at St. James's, three of whom were ſent off immediately after it broke up. One is gone to Paris, from whence he is to proceed to Conſtantinople immediately; another to the Hague, where he is to wait to bring home ſome anſwers from Sir Joſeph Yorke, and the third is diſpatched to Vienna and Warſaw.

A report is current at the Weſt end of the town, that Thomas Pownall, Eſq; member for Tregony, will be re-appointed Governor of the province of Maſſachuſetts-Bay, in New-England.

A female Bullfinch, the property of a young Lady at Roſs, now on a tour to the north of Ireland, has laid two eggs in a cage where ſhe has been confined two years, and without the aſſiſtance of a male companion.—Faulkner's Dublin Journal.

Extract of a Letter from Warſaw, July 10.

"We are afraid that the little which is left us will become a prey to a civil war, as we hear that a new Confederacy is juſt formed at Poſen, that are reſolved to bear arms for their own liberty in particular, and for the Poliſh liberty in general; and it is whiſpered here, that the cities of Dantzic, Thorn, Poſen, and Lemburgh, are the ſupporters of that confederacy; and that a very high perſonage is the patron and chief promoter of it.

"Some Ruſſian regiments, under the command of General Bibikoff, are expected here every day: and the Auſtrian troops have re-inforced the gariſon of the caſtle of Cracow, and eſtabliſhed a general poſt-office in that city, declaring, that the Emperor is reſolved to keep this city and fort in his poſſeſſion, and as an equivalent, the King of Pruſſia is to be allowed to take the city of Thorn, and to fortify it for himſelf. It appears now that the whole kingdom of Poland is to be divided between the Emperor and the King of Pruſſia, and that the Czarina will give up her claim to any part, and content herſelf with obtaining the terms ſhe has propoſed to the Porte, which her two allies are to enable her to do by force of arms, in caſe they cannot be obtained by negociation."

They write from Cadiz, that the Spaniards are extremely buſy

the like number of ſwords, and one thouſand five hundred quintals of powder, were lately ſent to Carthagena by the Caſtile ſhip of war; a number of piſtols are alſo expected at Cadiz, deſtined likewiſe for their American Colonies.

JULY 31.

A Correſpondent remarks, that Lord North's expedient of ſtopping the currency of light money in England, by a mode which encourages the Jews to ſend it to Ireland, Holland, and the Weſt-Indies, has followed the example of the great Doctor Laſt, in his radical cure of the tooth ach, by plucking them out.

Another obſerves, that the preſent act, relative to the gold coin, is of Scottiſh original, and intended, by ſending the current coin out of the kingdom, to introduce the inſtitution of a Bank in every populous place in England, as there is in the ſiſter kingdom. If a guinea, by chance, ſtrays into Scotland, you cannot change it without receiving at leaſt twenty pieces of paper, there called bank notes, of which our correſpondent ſays, he has ſeen one for ſo ſmall a ſum as a penny.

The rights, privileges, and immunities, of the city of Dantzick, are now farmed from the court of Berlin, at the moderate rent annually of 50,000l. ſterling.

CONSTANTINOPLE, (Turky) June 17. A report prevails, that the Ruſſians have entirely defeated, near Siliſtria a corps of ſome thouſand Turks, commanded by Munam Pacha, who was killed in the action.

WARSAW, (Poland) July 14. By an eſtafette, arrived here from General Witte, commandant at Kaminieck, we learn that Marſhal Romanzow has attacked and beaten the Grand Vizir, that the loſs of the Turks conſiſted in 15,000 men killed on the field of battle, and 5000 made priſoners; that they have abandoned to the conquerors 150 pieces of cannon, with all their tents, baggage, and military cheſt. The Ruſſian, General Potemkin and Weiſſman, who were behind with their corps, are advanced; the former have put to the rout a body of the enemy, conſiſting of 5000 men; and the ſecond, after taking a great quantity of artillery, &c. is gone to form the ſiege of Siliſtria.

LONDON, AUGUST 2.

The Hanoverians are ſo incenſed at one of the houſe of Strelitz being appointed governor of Hanover, that they daily threaten a revolt. The Prince of Brunſwick is ſo incenſed, that he is now treating with France as Generaliſſimo of their Army. The Princeſs of B. came over to the court of Britain ſome time ſince to expoſtulate upon this partial buſineſs, but was recalled by her royal conſort with indignation.

The Sieur de Lande, of the royal academy of ſciences at Paris, has announced to the world a remarkable phænomenon He aſſerts that the ring of Saturn will diſappear from the 2d of October next to the 23d of January following; and that it will diſappear a ſecond time from the 24th of March, next year, to the 11th July following.

When the laſt ſhips left New England, circular letters had been ſent from Boſton to all the ſiſter Colonies on the Continent, in order to conſider of ſome new propoſals to be made to government relative to the affairs of America, which are to be laid before the Britiſh parliament.

They write from Amſterdam, that very large orders are now lying in Holland to ſhip naval ſtores for the uſe of the French marine at Breſt, Rochfort, and Toulon.

The King of Denmark has given public notice in all the foreign Gazetts, that the commiſſary at Hamburgh will pay the debts due to his Daniſh ſubjects from Meſſ. Cliffords and Co. late merchants at Amſterdam, at the rate of 7000 ſix-dollars per month till the whole ſhall be diſcharged.

On Saturday paſſed the Great Seal, a grant of a penſion of 500l. per Annum to——Cornwall, Eſq. out of the revenue, duty, or cuſtom, of four and one half per cent. at Barbadoes, and the Leeward Iſlands, to hold the ſame during his life.

The laſt letters from Rome mention, that the Chevalier Charles Stuart was ſent for by his brother, the Cardinal Yorke, who was dangerouſly ill at his palace in that city.

A few days ſince a packet was received at St. James's from Copenhagen, ſaid to be an anſwer to ſome diſpatches particularly relating to the unfortunate Queen of Denmark, which were lately received from our Court.

It is ſaid that on Saturday laſt, the Right Honourable Lady Amelia D'Arcy, daughter of the Earl of Holderneſſe, was married to the Marquis of Carmarthen, ſon of his Grace the Duke of Leeds.

A letter from the Hague of the 19th inſt. ſays, "The Prince of Denmark Eaſt-Indiaman is juſt arrived here from the Cape of Good-Hope, by whom we have an account that the pirate ſhip carried in there, which had been announced in the papers to be the Aurora Engliſh man of war, proves to be a veſſel bought and fitted out at Batavia, by ſome merchants there, for a voyage on the coaſt, but that the crew mutinied, and after murdering the Captain and ſeven more perſons, turned pirates, and had robbed different ſhips of an immenſe plunder, particularly a Swediſh veſſel from Sunda, out of which they took bale goods to a large amount. The perſon who commanded her, and ſix others, were tried by a Court Martial, and executed."

HANOVER, July 20. The King of Great-Britain has ſent orders to put all the cavalry of this electorate on a complete footing, and to buy up horſes immediately for that purpoſe.

LONDON, AUGUST 3.

The piety and good Faith of the Empreſs Queen are conſpicuous from her behavior to the King of Poland; at the very time that ſhe ſent her troops into that unhappy country, ſhe wrote a letter in her own hand to his Poliſh Majeſty, in which ſhe informed him in the ſtrongeſt terms of her unalterable friendſhip to him and the Republic; ſhe begged him not to be alarmed at the motion of her forces, and concluded her very kind and cordial letter by aſſuring him, that ſhe never entertained a thought of ſeizing any part of his dominions, nor would ſuffer any other power to do ſo. Good Lord! how great Princes will lye!

The troubles of Poland are not likely to end ſoon; the three Confederate powers oblige the King and Republic to hold a diet at Warſaw, to put an end to all the troubles of that country; that is, to confirm and eſtabliſh ſuch a diviſion and partition of the provinces, as ſhall be ſettled by theſe honeſt mediators. In the mean time the King of Pruſſia encourages underhand another Diet at Liſſa, which contributes to the public confuſion and miſeries, by its tumultuous and illegal proceedings, and by thwarting the reſolutions of the Diet at Warſaw.

The Ambaſſador lately ſent here by the Great Mogul, was formerly an officer in the ſervice of the Eaſt-India Company: He is ſaid to be veſted with powers to cede certain territories to the Crown of Great-Britain, which were formerly given to the Eaſt-India Company, ſubject to the payment of an annual rent, which condition the Mogul complains has not been performed by the ſervants of the Company.

The Parliament will, upon its firſt meeting, proceed to reconſider the India Bill, which, in its preſent ſtate, cannot by any means anſwer the purpoſes for which it was paſſed, viz. the eſtabliſhing a perfect ſyſtem of judicature in that country. Till the amendments have taken place, the Judges already appointed will not leave England.

Governor Hutchinſon's letters, which have given ſuch offence to the Americans, were written to Mr. George Grenville, and ſince his death, having fallen into other hands, they were ſent over to Boſton.

prorogued to Tueſday the 12th of October next, then to ſit for the diſpatch of buſineſs.

AUGUST 6.

Laſt night an expreſs arrived from his Excellency Sir Joſeph Yorke, at the Hague, ſince which it is reported that a large body of Imperialiſts have marched to join the Ruſſian army under the command of Count Romanzow.

It is reported, that the poſt of Secretary of State for Scotland will ſoon be revived. The late Marquis of Tweedale was the laſt Secretary.

We hear from good authority, that the fleet will be kept up, in order to be in readineſs in caſe of any change of affairs.

On Wedneſday evening the Lord Mayor was ſuddenly ſeized with a ſhivering fit at the Manſion-houſe, juſt before he ſet out for Bruce-caſtle; when his Lordſhip got there, he was ſo bad that he was obliged immediately to go to bed; ſoon after a fever came on, attended with a ſore throat, and yeſterday his Lordſhip was very ill.

Extract of a Letter from the Lower Elbe, July 26.

"The Ruſſian fleet at Cronſtadt ſailed the 18th inſtant, and the fleet at Revel had orders to ſail the ſame day; and we are aſſured that ſeveral Daniſh frigates joined the Ruſſians in the Baltic."

Extract of a Letter from Hamburgh, dated July 28.

"This being the age for ſetting up obſolete claims in Germany, and which have been attended with too much ſucceſs, as the claimants are too powerful to be argued with, it is to be feared the inhabitants of this trading city are on the eve of being great ſufferers. Count Schomberg has ſet up ſome ancient claim on us, the nature of which we are not fully informed of, and has laid his caſe before the Court at Vienna, and if it is allowed valid (which ſome ſay there is little doubt of) a neighbouring Monarch is ready to purchaſe the Count's right, and then we may be in a like ſituation with our neighbours the Dantzickers."

VIENNA, (Auſtria) July 24. A Courier has juſt arrived here from Baron Stackelberg, the Ruſſian Envoy in Wallachia, with diſpatches, which anounce the intelligence of Field Marſhal Count Romanzow having made propoſitions to the Grand Vizir for renewing the negociations for peace, under the auſpices of the Emperor of Germany, and the Kings of Pruſſia and Sweden. Theſe propoſitions have been declined by the Turks, in conſequence of which, his Imperial Majeſty has declared, that by his late treaty with the Empreſs of Ruſſia, he muſt aſſiſt her againſt the Porte in the preſent war.

HAMBURGH, (Germany) July 27. After the Ruſſians had paſſed the Danube, and defeated the body of Turks that had oppoſed them, the latter retreated towards Siliſtria; the Ruſſians followed them, and attacked the city of that name in ſeveral places, which they at length took, after putting part of the gariſon to the ſword. General Suwarow, who was marching another way to join the grand army, fell in with a body of 6000 Bulgarians and Boſniacs, under the command of Seri Makemet Pacha, who being killed in the action, victory declared for the Ruſſians, and the Bulgarians fled to the mountains, leaving thirteen cannon and ſome mortars. The Turks are ſaid to have loſt 3000 men, in endeavouring to poſſeſs themſelves of an iſland in the Danube, which is in poſſeſſion of the Ruſſians.

We are juſt now informed, that Ford and King were on the 5th inſtant at a village called Annaquauga, and the chaſſeurs expected to be up with him the next night.

We hear from Morris-town, in New-Jerſey, that on Friday laſt David Reynolds was executed there, for counterfeiting the bills of credit of that province.——Three others, who were to have ſuffered with Reynolds, are reſpited for one month.

We are aſſured that Benjamin Franklin, Eſq; will embark in one of the early London Fall ſhips for this city, on his way to Philadelphia.

By letters received at Philadelphia, from good authority in London, it is aſſerted that the draught of the charter for eſtabliſhing a new government on the Ohio, had been for ſome time paſt in the hands of His Majeſty's Attorney-General, undergone a ſtrict ſcrutiny, and was in a few days to be carried up by Mr. Thurlow, for the laſt reviſion of His Majeſty in Council, previous to a final delivery of it to the proprietors.

THE growing Importance of the College of NEW-JERSEY, (for the Use of which the above Lottery is principally designed) is now generally known through every Province of America. It has hitherto subsisted, and been raised to its present Situation, entirely by the Favour of the Public. In the Centre of North-America, and in a pleasant, healthy Country, it is well fitted for the most extensive Usefulness. The Success which has attended the vigorous Efforts already made, to raise its Funds, and furnish the Means of a complete and finished Education, to all who are sent to it, has encouraged those concerned in the present Attempt; especially as several very judicious Persons have warmly recommended it, signifying their Surprize, that at a Time, when so many have taken this Method of promoting public Undertakings, a SEMINARY, of such Importance, should not also put in for a Share of the general Benevolence. This, added to the other Schemes for the Support and Improvement of the College, will afford so many Friends of that Institution, an Opportunity of contributing with very little Risk of losing, and a considerable Chance of Gain to themselves, who would not incline that the small Sums they could spare, should appear in a Subscription Paper.

As a Number of Tickets are already engaged, and many Gentlemen of extensive Acquaintance have interested themselves in this Measure, the Drawing will commence the First Week in October next, in the Town of New-Castle on Delaware, and a List of the fortunate Numbers published, and sent to the several Towns and Places where the Tickets may be sold. The Prizes, after deducting Fifteen per Cent. for the Purposes of the Lottery, will be paid by the Gentlemen of whom they were purchased.

DISCOURSE on the pernicious Tendency of falſe and ſcandalous Reports.

OF late, and for ſome time paſt, in diſcuſſing the merits of characters, we have ſeen ſeveral complaints made of the violation of the rules of honeſty and juſtice, from falſe and ſcandalous reports and aſperſions. Theſe have at all times by the malice of men exiſted in the world, but, when propagated to a degree of licentiouſneſs, there is hardly any thing more important than to reſtrain them by proper meaſures, as being moſt commonly the cauſe of troubles and diviſions, which happen not only in particular friendſhips, but alſo in ſocieties, and even in whole kingdoms.

It is ſtrange, that, every man complaining of others in this reſpect, no one thinks he gives cauſe to others to complain of him. All confeſs that there are people ſo addicted to obloquy, that they conſtrue all things wrong and report them ſo, and that they marr and poiſon the moſt innocent deſigns and the moſt harmleſs words; yet none will attribute theſe faults to themſelves, and cannot be made to believe that they want either ſincerity or honeſty. However, let every man bring his conſcience to the teſt, and then let him be mindful to impoſe it as a law on himſelf, to obſerve in this point, what honeſty, charity, and juſtice, demand of him.

Provided we ourſelves commit no faults, the defamation and wickedneſs of others will hardly hurt us. The evil redounds to them, and ſometimes to thoſe who give ear to and believe them, but not to thoſe who are maliciouſly reported, if they bear the ſlander as they ought. Providence often makes uſe of ſuch to procure conſiderable benefits to the injured party. Thus have we nothing more to do but to ſtand upon our guard againſt ourſelves, and we ſhall find ſhelter from every falſe report.

The general foundation of the tye, by which we are bound to ſilence and ſometimes to ſecrecy, in regard to what is reported to the diſparagement of others, is, that, God having had in conſideration in all his laws the linking of men together, and making them live in a well grounded ſociety, all that deſtroys this ſociety ought to be eſteemed as wicked and pernicious. It is manifeſt it would be impoſſible for this ſociety to ſubſiſt, if men treated each other as enemies, by continually calumniating each other. Still the inconvenience cannot be abſolutely avoided, becauſe, minds being different, what one thinks good, another often takes in the contrary ſenſe. There are, beſides, a thouſand things which have nothing bad, being ſaid in private, and yet we cannot report them again without imprudence and danger; ſo that, if thoſe to whom we ſpeak, think they have a right to relate all they hear, there is no converſation, no entertainment where ſcandal enters, but may be attended with bad effects.

There are ſome who never fail to require abſolute ſecrecy, when they would not have what they have told tranſpire; but, whether a condition of this kind be impoſed or not, a truly honeſt man will think himſelf obliged to ſecrecy, by how much the leſs cautious another has been with him in relying upon his diſcretion and fidelity. 'Tis but conſidering the bottom of the heart to grant the juſtice of this law. Who but would others ſhould practiſe it towards him? Who would not be glad to find that fidelity he complains of in others? It follows then by the general rule of natural equity, that every man is obliged to practiſe this fidelity towards others. There need not for this expreſs promiſes and compacts: The force of this natural law is greater than that of all promiſes and compacts. It is even obſerved in all thoſe ordinary civilities which are rendered to people in the world. For, if theſe civilities be ſincere, as they ought to be, they ſignify at leaſt, that we are not enemies of thoſe to whom we pay them, that we have no deſign of harming them, and that we are diſpoſed to practiſe, in reſpect of them, the obligations of honeſty and common civility. Now the leaſt reſpect we can pay them is not to abuſe, to their prejudice, what they ſhall have told us.

The right of a depoſit has been always ſacred among men, having always deemed it an injuſtice to violate any truſt of the kind without an exceſs of baſeneſs and perfidy. Yet, it is not neceſſary that he who confides a buſineſs of concern to another, ſhould require a ſecurity for his faithfulneſs. His fidelity is ſufficiently engaged by the act of communication. Now what does he do, who in a private converſation makes another the depoſitary of his thoughts? Whether he expreſſly requires ſecrecy from him or not, the nature of a depoſit will always recur, which cannot be diſpoſed of but according to the intentions of him who has truſted it.

Many think themſelves obliged to this fidelity towards their friends, but few extend the obligation to perſons either indifferent or enemies. They preſume they are clear of reproach, as to ſcandalous reports, when they may ſay they have no obligation to thoſe whom they concern, nor are under any engagement to adviſe them. But theſe excuſes proceed only from a baſe idea we have of charity. A true Chriſtian is not only no man's enemy, becauſe he loves all men; but he loves all indiſcriminately, wiſhing all equal happineſs. He may ſhew more kindneſs to ſome than to others, becauſe, the external effects of friendſhip being limited, he owes them in a more peculiar manner to thoſe with whom he is more intimately connected. But in reſpect to all others, he never loſes ſight of the general aſſociation of mankind, and is ſure to practiſe charity in its proper place, by uſing any perſon like a friend, at leaſt impoſing on himſelf the obligation not to abuſe his confidence.

'Tis true, notwithſtanding, that this rule admits of a diverſity of exceptions; but theſe, being ſeldom met with in practice, no way deſtroy its utility. For inſtance, there is an indubitable exception to this law of ſecrecy, when any one communicates to us a criminal deſign, which we may hinder by diſcovering it. We are ſo far from hurting civil ſociety by not keeping it ſecret, that on the contrary we contribute by ſo doing to its deſtruction. Crimes are no matter of truſt, and the intercourſe of men is not calculated for communicating evil deſigns to one another. It is he who makes theſe deteſtable overtures, that abuſes this chief tye of ſociety; and they who report again theſe wicked ſpeeches and deſigns, that they may hinder the bad effects of them, make good uſe of the indiſcretion of thoſe who have dared to reveal them. The ſame may be ſaid of certain vices, pernicious to human ſociety, and dangerous to certain perſons; for if it happen that men out of confidence make us privy to them, and afterwards would engage themſelves in employments, which theſe vices diſqualify them for, thoſe to whom they have diſcovered themſelves, would not be wanting to ſecrecy if they publiſhed what they knew of theſe perſons.

They who have ſome conſcience, or profeſs to have any, forbear not to colour, with ſome pretext of utility, the reports they make of others, and think thereby to be exempt from all reproach of infidelity, when they are under no manner of engagement to ſilence. But they will find themſelves miſtaken on a curſory reflection, that this is, in the main, opening a ſource of diſunion, baniſhing the commerce of converſation, and injuring human ſociety, by filling it with diſtruſt and ſuſpicions. Again, whoever feels himſelf thruſt forward to report what he knows from particular communication, or from being only an over-hearer, ought to examine all the following conditions; whether the thing he is about to divulge is very certain, and whether he has not been miſtaken in the idea he has conceived of it; whether it is ſo conſtantly bad, that he has no reaſon to doubt of it; whether it is important it ſhould be known to avoid ſome great inconveniency, and whether this inconveniency may not be prevented by ſome other means; whether we have endeavoured to make the intereſted party ſenſible of his fault; and whether he has corrected it according to admonition. With all theſe conditions, if notwithſtanding he is afterwards inclined to make a diſcovery, it ought to be to thoſe only who can bring the matter to order by proper meaſures, and not to thoſe to whom theſe reports would ſerve to no other purpoſe but to gratify curioſity, or irritate malignity.

We ſhall be eaſily convinced of the extreme circumſpection that ought to be had in theſe reports, if we attend to the conſequences, and terrible indiſcretions which may be committed. For, as ſoon as any ſcandalous report has raſhly eſcaped us, we are no more maſters of it. It multiplies and increaſes, and dilates itſelf mightily; it ſerves as an inſtrument to the paſſion of ſome, and as a nouriſhment to that of others; it frequently produces diſagreements, and durable and permanent animoſities, which have long and permanent conſequences; it engages an infinity of people in conſiderable faults; and all this multiplication of miſchiefs can be imputed only to thoſe who ſhall have given way to them by their indiſcretion.
